

Camp Songleader Track

What is the Camp Songleader Track at Hava?

The Hava Nashira Camp Songleader track is bigger than ever!

For two days prior to the start of the full conference, day and overnight camp songleaders from across movements enjoy dedicated training led by master teachers Eric Hunker, Debra Winter, and Jacob "Spike" Kraus.

On the third day, Camp Songleaders join the full conference for more learning opportunities, networking with professionals and organizational leaders, and the chance to hone their skills in a camp environment.

Songleaders leave with the skills, resources, repertoire and connections that will make their summer a success!

Why Attend the Hava Nashira Camp Songleader Track?

“Music at camp isn’t just entertainment—it’s actually one of the fastest ways we build real community. Singing together literally synchronizes breath and heartbeat, releases oxytocin, and builds a sense of trust. When music is chosen and led with intention, it becomes a tool for belonging, emotional expression, and a stronger, more connected camp culture.”

- Debra Winter, Camp Songleader Track Faculty

“Songleaders are in the business of moment-making. At our best, we get to curate and deliver the soundtrack for some of the most meaningful moments people and communities experience in their lives. The Hava Nashira Camp Songleader Track represents the front lines of songleaders doing the work out in the world. There is no replacement for it. No amount of study or practice can give you what these few days will.”

- Eric Hunker, Camp Songleader Track Faculty
